Pair charged in break-in

Two local men were charged October 11 in connection with break-ins at Carnarvon Farmers Market October 9. Joseph MacMinn, 19, of R.R. 1 Minden and Dusty Upton, 18, of R.R. 1, Haliburton, were both charged with one count of break, enter and theft and two counts of break and enter with intent.

The Farmers Market had another after-hours visitor October 11.

Residents heard someone attempting to force entry and Brian Donald Wensley of Huntsville has been convicted of attempted break and enter.

Carnarvon's woes, go on. Mrs. Fogg's Dairy Bar was entered but nothing was stolen. Lastly, the Four Seasons grocery store had an unsuccessful attempt made on it to gain entry.

Constables Al Bibby and Dennis Potter investigated.

Cottage break-in

A cottage on Hall's Lake near Highway 35, was broken into and goods valued at more than $3500 are missing. Stolen property included a television, radio, heater, furniture and blankets.

Constable Weldon Popp investigated.

Missing wood

Winter is coming and firewood is being stockpiled. Unfortunately for a Norland woman her wood is in someone else's pile after her homemade trailer was stolen October 4. The trailer had a flat tire on Highway 503 in Snowdon Township and when she returned next morning, the trailer, along with its contents, had vanished.

Blocks and sawdust

On October 4, 200 cement blocks disappeared from a driveway on Kennis Lake Road in Havelock Township.

October 5 approximately 100 bags of sawdust were reported stolen from a sawmill in Wilberforce.

Tree thefts

Complaints have been received by police from persons throughout the County of trees being cut from their property without permission. It would seem appropriate at this time to remind all potential firewood gatherers that they must first obtain authorization from the property owner. This not only applies to privately owned land but also to Crown land, be it federal, provincial or municipal. "Taking firewood without permission amounts to theft," OPP officials advise area residents.

Booth will not seek re-election

While interest in the upcoming municipal elections has centered on the council contests, little attention has been given to the race for Board of Education seats. In the Minden area one trustee, Don Booth, has announced that he will not be seeking re-election, while two others, Bonnie-Lee Berry and Cheryl Murdoch, who represents Lutterworth Township, have said they are in the running.

Booth will not run

Anson, Hindon and Minden Board of Education trustee Don Booth has indicated that he will not seek re-election in the upcoming municipal election. He made his feelings known in an interview Tuesday.

Booth has served on the board for the past six years.

"The main reason I'm stepping down is that the job has lost its gratification for me. The trustees are being hemmed in by provincial legislation that leaves them little room to act," Booth commented.

"Education minister Bette Stephenson has severely limited the ability of the local boards to react," he said. "With teachers on one side and parents on the other, there is hardly any leeway left."

Booth also noted that the three year term was too long as far as he was concerned. "I would like to have more time for other matters and don't feel I can make the commitment for that long." The trustee serves as the assistant fire chief in Anson, Hindon and Minden. He pointed out that demands of the department are increasing and he felt he should be devoting more time to the local brigade.

"I see the position of trustee becoming more complicated in the future," Booth commented. "It is almost impossible to try and control costs with the demands of teachers and the increase in the other costs."

Booth also questioned the inclusion of a separate school board representative from the Cardiff area on the Haliburton Board. "I'm not sure we should have to lose a member here to accommodate the separate school trustee. But, Bette Stephenson says we can only have a 14 member board."

"I think it's time to let someone else give it a go," Booth commented. "I've enjoyed some of it, but I think it is time I stepped down."

Berry will run

Bonnie-Lee Berry has indicated her intention to seek re-election for the position of school trustee in Anson, Hindon and Minden. She was appointed to the post ten months ago following the resignation of Lloyd Johnson.

"I've found the past ten months extremely interesting," Berry told The Times. "I think there is a need for someone with children in the school system and someone with a teaching background to be involved in the decision making process." Mrs. Berry has been a teacher and has two children attending Archie Stouffer School in Minden.

The trustee commented however, that she was eager to see others running as well. "There were five candidates interviewed for the appointed position that I received, I think some of those should be encouraged to run." She also suggested that the board would benefit by having more women seeking office. "Mothers seem to be closer to their children's education," she said. "They are involved

With smiles as broad as their apples were shiny, these young members of Minden Scouting Association joined in the annual Apple Day Saturday. Beaver Danny Purc, left, and Cub Eddie Armstrong, were just two of many Beavers, Cubs and Scouts who sold fifteen bushels of well-polished McIntosh apples in support of the organization.

HCSA opts for Alliance

Following a meeting Wednesday evening in Dorset, the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association (HCSA) agreed to back the Ontario Trail Builders Alliance program for the use of club trails. Representatives of the HCSA, the Dorset Snowmobile Club and the Bayview Happy Wanderers were in attendance.

The club representatives had gathered to hear the pros and cons of adopting the Alliance program or one offered by the Ontario Federation of Snowmobile Clubs (OFSC).

Basically, both programs would allow members access to trails operated by other clubs in Ontario which are associated with the province-wide organization. However, members whose clubs are associated with the Alliance, for example, would not be allowed free access to OFSC club affiliated trails.

"We want to get a clear picture from both sides," Don McKay, president of the Dorset club commented.

Bev Jobbins, chairman of the Alliance, outlined how the Alliance survived after refusing money from the Ministry of Natural Resources two years ago. The ministry had supplied funding since 1974 but halted the program this year leaving snowmobile clubs in a financial bind.

"It was just a matter of time 'til the program was terminated," said Jobbins regarding the Alliance's withdrawal from the funding program to develop their own financial plan based on the user-pay system.

The Alliance organization has thoroughly investigated the legal aspects of maintaining trails on private land and the varying degrees of public land. The group insists that an airtight legal course is the best way to gain credibility with the government and the public. The Trespass to Property Act of 1980 is the major law the Alliance invokes to limit abuse of trails by non-paying snowmobilers. Trail agreements with private landowners and Land Use Permits (LUP's) from the government authorize the Alliance's trail wardens to press trespassing charges against non-members who use trails maintained by Alliance affiliated clubs.

"We want to show the public we mean business," said Jobbins referring to charging trespassers.

Tom Prentice, president of the HCSA said that the OFSC program has too many loopholes. The federation plan depends on two uncertain factors. It calls for $100,000 seed money from the provincial government which, according to Prentice, seems unlikely based on vague letters of moral support from Premier William Davis and Reuben Baetz, Minister of Tourism.

The second problem concerns the number of clubs joining the OFSC. If a minimum amount of clubs fail to join, their program ceases to be viable.

Two other problems exist with the OFSC course. They have a $10 across-the-board fee. Nine dollars of that fee is required by the federation which would distribute it according to affiliate need.

This need would be based on southern club expenses which comprise the majority of OFSC clubs. This would be with the parent-teacher organizations and are generally the ones who take the greatest interest in their child's education. They should also be involved at the decision-making level."

During her term on the board Berry has served on the salary negotiating committee. Her interests, if she is re-elected, would move to the children services committee, a group involved with the co-ordination of services available to children throughout the county.

Lutterworth trustee

Cheryl Murdoch, who has served as chairman of the Haliburton County Board of Education for the past year, and who represents the voters of Lutterworth, has said that she will allow her name to stand for re-election this November.

"I have served for four years on the board and have really enjoyed it," she commented Tuesday. "I have children in the system," Murdoch pointed out, "and a teaching background."

She said the biggest problems facing the board in the coming three years would be the impact of declining enrolment and the reduction in grant support from the provincial government. "We've got all our buildings which have to be maintained and reduced funds to work with. The problems will not be easy to resolve."

inadequate for the problems faced by the northern clubs in harsher conditions.

Finally, the Alliance's board of directors is based on representation by club membership. The 900 member HCSA would be able to have a stronger say in the 9,000 member Alliance. The OFSC allows two directors from each club.

Prentice chaired a meeting with resort owners Thursday night at Wig-A-Mog Inn. "They back us 100 percent," he said. "We're looking forward to another good year."

Council responds to strategy

Anson, Hindon and Minden Township council has prepared and submitted its response to the Ministry of Natural Resources land use strategy for the Minden District. The response was formulated after the policy was released. The reply was forwarded to Don White of the Minden District office in early September.

The response indicates a number of areas of concern of the municipality and, in some cases, outlines possible changes to the strategy. The municipality's comments on the strategy are reprinted below:

Fisheries

Warm water fish which are placed into waters such as Head Lake and Horseshoe Lake for example eventually flow into cold water lakes and as a result the trout, etc., are being depleted by the warm water fish such as rock bass, muskie, etc., which are becoming more prevalent in the cold water lakes.

Acid rain

There seems to be no plan in the strategy to curtail the effects of acid rain.

Recreational activities

The only recreational activities in our municipality outlined in the strategy are canoe routes. Although snowmobile trails are shown, the entire financial burden has been placed on the private sector with all funding from the Ministry of Natural Resources having been withdrawn. It would seem at least partial revenue received from this activity such as registration fees, gas tax, etc., should be used to help maintain and increase our trails in this county as we are very dependent on winter recreation to supplement our tourist business community.

Parks

The only mention or plan for a park of any kind is the future candidate park in Cavendish Township, Peterborough County. Our municipality of Anson, Hindon and Minden has considerable crown land available for such development. Hindon Township, for instance, is designated almost entirely as a Deer Yard and fully realizing that hunting, trapping and forestry are very important, it is not possible to implement a wilderness park in part of this area to help increase traffic flow and tourism to this area.

The strategy does not address anything on the Haliburton County side of Minden District that is not already in place with the exception that you are going to protect and increase if possible, the forest and deer herds, etc., which, in itself, is a reasonable plan, however we are requesting other compatible uses for the large tract of crown land in our area. Other areas have beautiful roadside parks permitting the travelling public to pull off, eat and rest. We do not have anything of this sort to encourage motorists to spend some time relaxing in the area except for those parkettes which the municipality maintains at its own expense.

Buffers

Council is concerned with the buffer zone to be implemented in the strategy, especially if it is to apply to private lands. Council feels that individuals should not be further dictated to in matters involving personal properties.

editorial

Your community needs you

It's time to get serious. Time for forgetting about frivolities and bold, but senseless posturing. The time has come for serious members of the community to come forward and offer their service to their fellow residents.

It is not an action to be taken lightly. The vote, which takes place November 8, will elect municipal council and board of education officials for the next three years. Those who are elected to office will have millions of dollars of the community's resources, in the form of tax dollars, under their control. How they exercise that control will, in the long run, determine how a community develops, grows and prospers. It is an important responsibility.

The first step to ensuring that the best possible managers are elected, is to encourage those in the community with ability to step forward. Monday October 18 is the deadline for receipt of nominations by municipal clerks.

For some who stand for election, the effort will end in rejection by the voters. However, losing the vote does not imply failure. They will have served their community by giving their fellow citizens a choice. Without a choice, the most important ingredient of our democratic systems, voter participation, is missing. A municipality in which positions are filled by acclamation, while they may be well served by those who are unchallenged, still leaves its residents without an important voice in the selection of its representatives.

Now is the time for residents who are concerned about the future of their municipality to step forward and offer their services to the community. Next week will be too late.

Energy program backfires

- by Bill Scott, M.P. -

Yes, according to the ex-Minister of Energy, his National Energy Program is working.

I think the real title for the program should be the "Negative Employment Production Plan." When defined in these terms, Mr. Lalonde's program is indeed a howling success.

Quoting from the prestigious "The Economist", a highly respected business magazine published in England, "The result has been a near disaster. The oil patch was not at its best because recession and energy conservation were beginning to hit demand, but, the NEP has come closer to wrecking an industry that, until October, 1980, was drilling like fury, finding enormous volumes of gas and much new oil, creating jobs and investment all-over Canada and increasingly using Canadian-owned capacity in exploration and management.

The NEP drove Canadian exploration and service companies into the United States until only 150 drilling rigs were left, the lowest number since the early 1960's - de-Canadianization in effect."

Not only has the NEP been quite successful in destroying jobs and ensuring that fewer new ones are created, it has also played a bit part in weakening our economy. As pointed out in the same article of August 7th, the NEP has increased Canadian interest rates, lowered our economic activity and weakened a valuable exchange rate. It took ten billion dollars of our money last year to pay for Canadian takeover of foreign-controlled businesses. When you buy your next tank full of gasoline, remember that part of your bill is going to the federal government to pay for the acquisition of Petro-Fina.

The Petroleum Administration Act, Section 65.26 (3) (b) authorizes the Minister of Energy and the Minister of Finance to recommend to the Governor-in-Council that any amount of tax be added to petroleum as is necessary to fund Canadianization of oil and gas related industries.

This brings me to the latest development in the workings of the NEP, the bail-out of Dome Petroleum. As you are probably aware by now, the government and four of the major banks, Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce,

Bank of Montreal, Toronto-Dominion Bank and the Royal Bank, have provided one billion dollars to Dome Petroleum to keep it from going under. The federal government agreed to supply

Editor's Note: The following is a copy of an open letter sent to the Ontario Minor Hockey Association. Copies were also sent to Minden Minor Hockey; the Haliburton Huskies Junior 'C' Hockey Team; and the Attorney General of Ontario, Roy McMurtry.

Dear Sir:

I am 17 years old, and at the start of this season I tried out for, and subsequently made the Haliburton Huskies Jnr C Hockey team. I previously had played in O.M.H.A. in Minden and prior to that in Haliburton and Nobleton.

I attended an executive meeting of the Minden Minor Hockey Association on October 4th, 1982, and in a written request, previously submitted to them, I had requested my release on a minor waiver from Minden to play for the Haliburton Jnr C team (Minden has a Juvenile team but not a Junior team).

The Minden Minor hockey executive at this meeting voted to refuse my request for a minor waiver and also stated that they would not grant any outright releases or releases on minor waivers to anyone from the Minden Minor Hockey Association this year (but in point of fact they have already granted releases to 2 other players this season.)

I am anxious to play in a more competitive league than what Minden Juvenile team will be playing and to try out for an even higher category next year. This will not be possible if I don't get a chance to play in a league that is closer to the competition level that I want to try out for next year.

I would appreciate your immediate intervention on my behalf to obtain my immediate release on a Minor Waiver from Minden Minor Hockey.

Andrew Shapiera,
Minden.

by Ron Reid - Federation of Ontario Naturalists

At this time of year, I am haunted by remnants of a poem from my schoolhouse days - 'Along the line of smoky hills, the crimson sumac stands'. I can't recall the author, or even why we were made to learn that verse by rote, but the vision of those words is recalled even in the city, where the sumac-covered hills are apt to be smoky from car exhausts than autumn mists.

Staghorn sumac may be a quiet enough plant for most of the year, clothed in orderly ranks of drooping leaves, but in the autumn it comes alive. In the words of Donald Culross Peattie, this is one of the chief plants that gives our Indian summer a sort of mellow savagery, shouting out its colour to the dying year. Orange, vermilion, yellow, and even purple can adorn a cluster of sumac in a celebration of wild colour. And rising from the great frond-like leaves, the dusty red seed heads or "staghorns" poke skywards.

Though sumac is a shrub, seldom growing more than fifteen or twenty feet tall, its uses are comparable to any tree. Its name may well be a corruption of "shoe-make", for the tannin extracted from

Record number of entries at demolition derby

A record 74 cars crashed and banged around during the weekend to the delight of hundreds of spectators.

The event was the annual Minden Kinsmen Demolition Derby held Saturday at the Minden Community Centre. Drivers, with their crews and friends travelled to Minden to pit their vehicle's last stand against those of other entrants. The victor won the adulation of the crowd and a whopping $1000 purse.

The aging cars roared around the competition area denting, maiming and deflating their competitors. When the dust had cleared, a driver from Brechin, Mark Brown, was $1000 richer. He and his car survived several heats to emerge victorious.

Jim Grant of Mount Albert took second place and a prize of $500. Third place finisher was a novice driver, Robert Brooks of Toronto. For trying his luck for the first time in the intricacies of the demolition derby and surviving to be the third last car in motion, he won $300.

In the powder puff division, Sandy Ash took first prize. First runner-up was Diane Snowdon of Bowmanville while second runner-up was A. Misener of Greenbank.

One of the organizers, Tom Prentice of the Kinsmen Club, said following the competition that the day had been a total success. "We had about double the number of entries from last year. Word seems to be getting around about the Minden Kinsmen demolition derby."

Prentice estimated the crowd at over 1000.

from the chamber

by Bob Stinson

Some of the earliest statistics are now compiled on the past season's tourism performance and they look good for our region. They are not broken down specifically for Haliburton County but for Central Ontario. Both Central Ontario and our neighbours in Grey, Bruce and Muskoka were down slightly in August but over-all for the summer had a slight increase in business. At the same time the larger centres such as Toronto had declines in accommodation business as much as 10%. Northern destinations also had substantial declines with the exception of Algoma-Kinnowabi.

We appear to be in a very fortunate position considering the state of the economy as a whole. We are close enough to the population centres to offer a logical alternative to some of the more expensive and distant trips that many of our potential visitors have been accustomed to.

Convention business is also tending to look for alternatives because of the cost of travel and many national conventions are now being broken down into several regional meetings and are looking for sites not necessarily in the metropolitan centres.

The fact that tourism remains the most buoyant part of the otherwise depressed economy has certainly not gone unnoticed, however, and competition in this industry is becoming very keen. This trend is expected to continue and those who are not geared to get into the battle for the tourist dollar are still likely to fail while their counterparts prosper.

The Chamber wants to help its members compete in these challenging times and has designed the annual meeting day around some very forward looking topics. For many members who attend it could turn out to be their most profitable day of the year.

Human rights bill passed

The Ontario Human Rights Code is now passed and is being circulated. This Bill created a great deal of controversy when it was first presented and we are now pleased to see that many of the clauses that made the Bill unacceptable in its original form have been altered to reflect the concerns of the interest groups such as ours who lobbied for the changes. It tends to restore your faith in the system to some extent.

No one could deny the objective of the code, which states that "every person has a right to equal treatment without discrimination because of race, ancestry, place of origin, colour, ethnic origin, citizenship, creed, sex, age, marital status, family status or handicap." The act then logs out in detail how this philosophy must apply to services, goods and facilities, occupancy of accommodation, and employment and how complaints will be handled. It is even sad to think that a commission has to exist to administer a set of rules that appear, on the surface anyway, to be just plain respect for your fellow man.

Some resort and campground operators who insisted on catering "to families only" or "mature adults" or various other descriptions they prefer dealing with will now find that the code as it relates to age and marital status will not allow this. Furthermore, a sign such as "Families Only" would constitute an announced intent to discriminate and is illegal. Some facilities have charged a different rate or demanded a security deposit from certain age groups or types of customers and this also will not be allowed unless it is policy for all of your clientele.

There are exceptions to the rules of course, such as insurance companies. They can charge different rates to different ages or classifications of people, or even to refuse to insure them because they are dealing with a risk factor.

Tourist operators could certainly argue that they are certainly dealing with a risk factor each and every time they rent their facilities.

Help Wanted

At the time of writing nomination chairman Ken Langdon still does not have a full slate of Directors to present at the annual meeting in another week's time. A good cross section of Directors from across the county and from various types of businesses ensures that your Chamber is working for all of you. Directors are asked to commit themselves to attend one board meeting per month plus varying amounts of time towards some committee work. The rewards are simply your gratitude, and the satisfaction they obtain from working for a more prosperous community.

If you can help, or you know someone who can, call the Chamber office at 286-1760 or Ken Langdon at 457-1402.

its bark and leaves cured the finest grades of leather. Its leaves formed an important ingredient in the mixture that served as tobacco for the American Indian. Its wood, with a curious orange heartwood streaked with green, is still used to manufacture a unique kind of handicraft carvings.

But it is the fuzzy seed-head which is perhaps the most attractive part of the plant. birds use sumac throughout the winter, and I have seen

February robins that seemed to be surviving three feet of snow quite nicely by feeding on sumac seeds. Early Canadians used the staghorns as well, to make a refreshing cool drink much like lemonade. The recipe is simple - crush the seed heads in water to free their natural acids, (don't boil since that brings out the bitter tannin), strain through a cloth and add a little sugar. If you decide to try sumac lemonade, don't forget to leave a few seed heads for our winter birds.

Man injured

A Scarborough man suffered a broken jaw and his passenger sustained minor injuries following an accident October 8 on a township road in Harburn Township.

Bruce MacIntosh, 25, was driving a 1977 model GMC four-wheel drive vehicle, when a car approaching from the opposite direction failed to yield half the roadway. MacIntosh drove off the road and his vehicle struck a tree causing $5,500 damage.

The passenger, Tracy Baron, 21, also of Scarborough received minor injuries in the accident. The accident occurred at 10 p.m.

Constable Mike Smith is the investigating officer.

Truck rolls

A dump truck involved with road reconstruction on Highway 519 south of Eagle Lake, sustained $5000 damage when it tipped. The vehicle was being driven by Frank McMillan, 46, of Orillia. He was unloading sand at the construction site at the time of the mishap.

Constable Jim Solway was the investigating officer.

Three capture Haliburton Highlands

The Rails' End Gallery in Haliburton is host to two art shows, "Three Artists Paint Haliburton" and the first local display of Ethel Curry's work, which spans at least two generations of Canadian art. The shows opened October 9 and runs to November 6.

The three artists are Murray McCheyne Stewart, William Sherman and John Joy. The three work primarily with watercolours although there are some oils and acrylics displayed.

Murray Stewart's oils are equally as pleasing as his watercolours. His vivid use of colour especially in "Red Flare" is compelling. The vibrant work is easy to identify with because this time of year is captured so eloquently.

Of the watercolours "Snowing" is easy to call to mind. Detail has been forsaken for form and colour in a most effective manner.

"I've always liked painting Haliburton because of the variety of landscapes," said Stewart. "I'm fascinated with old farm buildings and mills."

Old farm buildings are also popular subjects for John Joy. Joy's Gull River stands out among his works for its fine detail and delicate use of colour.

William Sherman has done the traditional aged building paintings as well. This is a recurring theme throughout the art shown.

Sherman is currently president of the Canadian Society of Painters in Watercolour. In his "Green Soldiers in Single File" he has used a curious but pleasing two dimensional effect to advantage.

Without detracting from the three gentlemen's work the most interesting exhibit at the gallery is that of Ethel Curry. In fact she taught Stewart and Sherman at Toronto's Northern Technical School. Both credit Curry with the course they took in painting, saying she was the first instructor to take them outside to paint landscapes.

Curry was the first Haliburton artist to follow her vocation at a professional level. It was her fortune to select a summer school course which brought her into contact with an associate of Tom Thomson, a member of the Group of Seven.

Curry became a teaching assistant of Arthur Lismer, another Group of Seven member. This and her painting forays with the Group led her to develop a style prompting recollection of the Group's works, especially A.Y. Jackson. Her work still has its streak of individuality though, giving her a unique and credible place in Canada's history.

The sense of history emanating from the various paintings and her forceful method make Ethel Curry's work imperative to see.

Three Artists Paint Haliburton continues at the Rails' End Gallery, Haliburton until November 6. John Joy will be conducting a water colour seminar tonight (October 13) 7-10 p.m.

Agnes Jamieson Gallery features local artist

The show, by Minden resident Yvonne Guida, of fine art, entitled "People, Places and Things" opened October 6 at the Minden Library/Cultural Centre in the Agnes Jamieson Gallery.

The 62 pieces reflect Guida's wide range of interests, including classical Greek subjects and several works with a Middle Ages theme. These last reflect her bold use of colour and her empathy for her subjects.

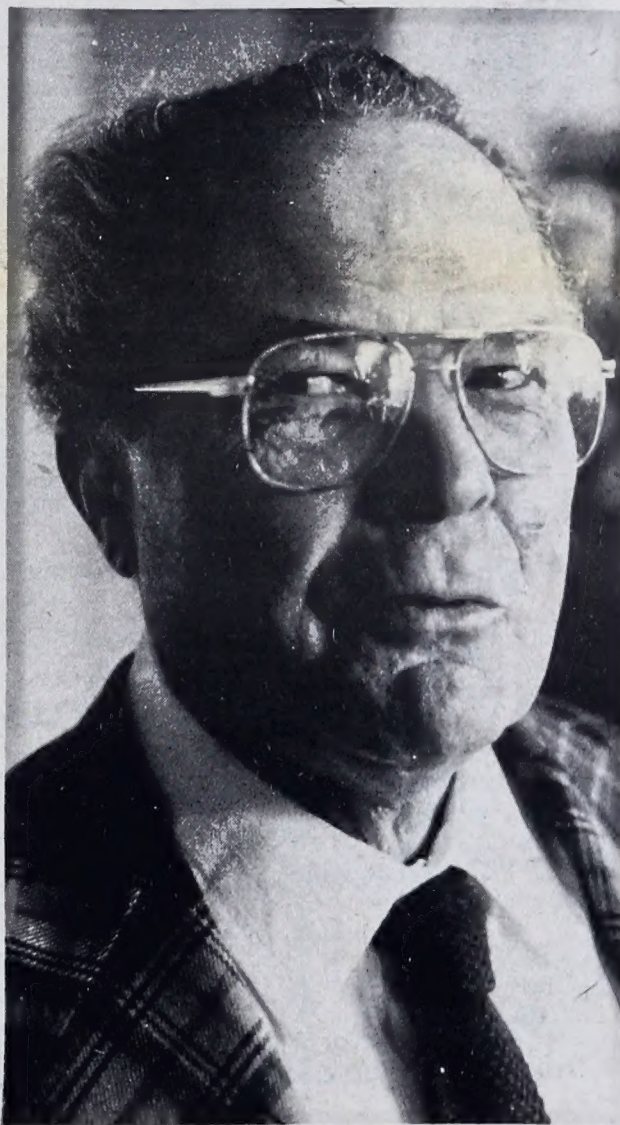

Her best work however, is with portraiture where her understanding of character interpretation is most strongly evident.

The pen and inks displayed, though small, are worth special attention.

The show continues through to November 14 at the Agnes Jamieson Gallery.

William Sherman greeted guests at the Rails' End Gallery Saturday. He was one of three artists whose work was being displayed at the Gallery.

Murray Stewart said he likes painting Haliburton because of the variety of landscapes in the area.

half of that.

Where are they going to find an additional five-hundred million? The Minister of Energy has stated that it will be done by extending the above-mentioned Canadian Ownership charge on petroleum. It is questionable, to say the least, if this bail-out's prime purpose is to increase Canadian ownership, and if it is not, the Minister must explain how he can use this consumer tax. In any case, whether the tax is called a Canadian Ownership Charge or something else, you and I both know our tax dollars, either directly or indirectly, will be the source of the five-hundred million. The only alternative is to add this cost to our federal deficit.

In which case, we will be forced to pay the increased interest charges. What does this mean, continued high interest rates and double digit inflation courtesy of the "Negative Employment Program", NEP for short.

When Ontario voters go to the polls this November to elect their local school board trustees they will be electing leaders of active institutions busy every day with the running of local schools, school amenities and educational resources.

A month in the life of a school board might include such responsibilities as: awarding a contract to an excavating company for work on one school; approving a list of textbooks for use in the elementary schools in its jurisdiction; authorizing 200 pupils to participate in an educational field trip; recycling school buildings that have outlived their usefulness; studying reports for the modernization of several existing buildings and implementing a province-wide guideline for Canadian Studies.

Boards run the school system and use local public advice to ensure their goals reflect the community's. Courses of study are often developed to meet these local needs. The great variety of local needs is the main reason why school boards are out there in the province and not centralized in one place.

Here is an example of how school courses are tailored to fit local requirements. In developing a course of study for Toronto students, teachers keep in mind that these students may need instruction in learning about rocks and minerals, for example, whereas children from Sudbury or Timmins, who grow up in an area where rocks and minerals are an integral part of local geography and industry, would require much less.

Similarly, children from Ingersoll would benefit from a visit to the Parliament Buildings in Ottawa, while children from Ottawa could learn a great deal from seeing how cheese is made in Ingersoll's world-famous factories.

In a wider context, the function of school boards is to assess and meet particular local needs: for example, language instruction for New Canadians, special classes for gifted or handicapped youngsters, kindergarten classes or summer-school courses.

To get even closer to the everyday responsibilities of boards, here are some of the many functions they have to perform as part of the running of Ontario's schools: they build and maintain school facilities, classrooms, offices, sports facilities; they hire principals, teachers, teaching consultants, caretakers and other staff needed to run schools.

They also maintain and supervise local playgrounds and provide school supplies, books, paper, chairs, desks and everything needed. They establish school libraries and provide special activities and services like summer schools and evening classes for working people. They provide special education for gifted and handicapped children and instruction in French.

In addition to such diverse tasks and challenges that arise out of constantly changing needs and circumstances, school boards have to meet certain "routine" obligations. For instance, each school board in Ontario is required to raise a certain percentage of the money needed to operate the schools within its jurisdiction and to allocate these funds in such a way that will provide comprehensive educational opportunities for those who live in the area served by the board.

The money is raised through local property taxes collected on the board's behalf by the municipality with the balance provided by provincial grants.

In Ontario, there are two publicly supported school board systems - one comprising the non-sectarian public schools open to all children, regardless of religious denomination, and one comprising the Roman Catholic separate schools. In both, trustees carry out their responsibilities within the framework of the Education Act of 1974.

As a focus for community educational concerns and a fountainhead of ideas, policies, programs, courses; school boards have a lot to offer the average parent with a vital stake in education.

It's one thing to discuss opinions and ideas for education with friends and neighbours but another to become actively involved by speaking to local, school-board officials through telephone inquiries, visits to board offices or attendance at board meetings which are open to the public.

(The preceding was prepared by the Ontario Ministry of Municipal Affairs and is presented here to stimulate interest in the November 8 municipal elections)

Candidates must have address in municipality

The following editorial appeared in the September issue of Municipal World, a magazine dealing with municipal matters in Ontario.

With the onus placed upon the person nominated to file a bona fide nomination paper, it is most important that potential candidates take note of the 1982 changes in the nomination paper.

Effective with this year's municipal election the qualifying address of both the person nominated and the electors who sign as nominators, must be "...the address within the municipality..."

Where a nominee is present at the time the nomination paper is filed, the clerk may, as a matter of courtesy, draw attention to an improper address upon a nomination paper, although he has no duty to do so. Where, as is often the case in a municipality having a large number of electors who are cottage owners, a nomination paper is mailed to a municipal office, this opportunity may be lost.

Where the address of the person nominated is incorrect, the clerk has no authority to reject a nomination paper, as the certification that he is required to make upon such a paper, is only as to the "...requisite number of nominators whose signatures appear on the nomination paper as electors entitled to vote for the office..." His certification of the eligibility of the nominators would not preclude a count challenge on the grounds that the information concerning the person nominated was incorrect.

Where the qualifying address of a nominator is incorrect, the nomination paper may not be lawfully certified by the clerk. Care should also be taken where nomination papers are being filed for a school office, to ensure that the nominators, are persons entitled to vote for such office with their school support being determined "...in accordance with the support indicated on the list of electors delivered to the clerk under section 22, as revised up to the time the nomination paper is filed."

Rae scores 3 more for Huskies

In a see-saw battle Friday evening in Oro, the Haliburton Huskies came out on the short end of a 10 - 9 score.

Mike Rae was once again the sharp-shooter for the Huskies scoring three goals.

Oro opened the scoring early in the first period with two goals by the eight minute mark. Huskies captain, Don Manary, put the team on the scoreboard with an unassisted effort at 8:53. Oro responded a few seconds later for their third of the period.

Brian Lloyd added another at the 11:56 mark before the hosts scored again to end the period with a 4 - 2 edge.

Oro came on strong in the opening half of the second period, scoring at the 57 second mark, 1:58, 3:35 and 3:55. The Huskies finally found their skating legs and responded in kind. Ed Davis scored at 7:39, connecting on a pass from Rob Abbs and Brian Curry; Mike Rae notched a pair, the first from Kevin Warburton at 8:22 and the second at 11:19 from Brian Lloyd and Warburton.

The fourth Huskies goal came from Warburton at 17:48 on a pass from Scott Rae and Don Manary.

Two more goals in the opening minutes of the third period tied the game for the Huskies. Scott Rae connected on a pass from Jim Lee and Ed Davis at 6:09, while Mike Rae picked up his third marker of the evening at 7:33 with help from Warburton.

At 15:02 Oro scored again to claim the one goal lead. The Huskies evened the tally at 18:02 when Ed Davis scored on a pass from Brian Curry and Scott Rae. However, a final goal from the hosts at 18:27 was enough to give them the lead and the game. Final score 10 - 9 for Oro.

The second weekend game for the Huskies, saw Essa at the Haliburton arena. Details of that game are unavailable. The final score was Essa 9, the Huskies 7.

The Huskies travel to Parry Sound Friday night and play again Sunday afternoon, in Haliburton, against Huntsville. Game time is 2:30 p.m.

The win means the juniors are in second spot in the league. They should have an excellent starting position for the play-off schedule which begins in two weeks.

The senior Redmen bowed to their visitors from Lindsay by a 1 - 0 margin. The seniors are in fourth spot in the league.

There are two more games left in the regular schedule for both teams. The next one will be this afternoon, October 13 when I.E. Weldon plays in Haliburton. The first game gets underway at 2 p.m.

UCW rally held at Ingoldsby

About 70 ladies representing Carnarvon, Gooderham, Haliburton, Ingoldsby, Lochlin, Maple Lake, Minden, Tory Hill and Wilberforce U.C.W. gathered at Ingoldsby United Church October 6 for the Fall Rally of Region 6. Quiet music was played by Miss Glenda Beckham, of Haliburton, as the ladies were gathering.

Mrs. D. Finlay, Chairwoman, opened the Rally, remarking on the beauty of the countryside at this time of year. She read a poem entitled "My Gift From God", and stated that we have work to do in the U.C.W.'s in sharing God's love, the theme of the Rally. "Praise the Lord, Ye Heavens adore Him" was sung.

Rev. John James extended a warm welcome to all, and inspired the ladies by stating "Let us give thanks to the Lord, for He is good."

Minden U.C.W. led in morning devotions. "Come, let us sing of a wonderful Love" was sung. In the meditation it was stated that real worship is offering our lives to God, and that we, as Christians go to church to rededicate ourselves and offer ourselves to the Lord.

Offering was received and dedicated by Maple Lake U.C.W. Lochlin invited the ladies to meet there in 1983.

Reports of the activities of each U.C.W. showed all groups busy and active throughout the year. Some of the activities included serving dinners, catering to colour tours, pot luck dinners at Christmas, slides of the Holy Land, India, and Beaufort Sea, helping fire victims, Christmas baskets for shut-ins, and helping at Hyland Crest Home.

The guest speaker for the Rally was Mrs. June Devolin, Pres. of Haliburton U.C.W. She opened her address by reading 1st John verses 7-17. She stated that she enjoyed U.C.W. because of the love she experiences there. She said that it is not how much money we raise, or how many dinners we serve, but the real quality of love we have amongst us. Encouragement and prayer are needed to keep each other going.

She felt that U.C.W. should not be programs, but people. We should stress love to one another, and growth will follow, but we need to have a personal relationship with God before we can love our neighbours as ourselves. She closed by reading Philippians 2 verses 1-2 from the Living Bible - "Is there any such thing as Christians cheering each other up? Do you love me enough to want to help me? Does it mean anything to you that we are sisters in the Lord, sharing the same Spirit? Are your hearts tender and sympathetic at all? Then make me truly happy by loving each other and agreeing wholeheartedly with each other, working together with one heart and mind and purpose". She felt this should be the criteria of the U.C.W. whether the group had 4 or 40 members.

Mrs. Mary Hadley, of Gooderham U.C.W., thanked Mrs. Devolin for her inspiring address and presented her with a token of appreciation.

Mrs. Leola English reported the books available for sale in the absence of Mrs. Nora Bagshaw, Literature Convenor.

Grace was sung following which everyone partook of a delicious hot luncheon served by Ingoldsby ladies.

Lochlin U.C.W. led in a Hymn Sing to open the afternoon session, following which Mrs. Evelyn Coleman of Carnarvon U.C.W. led in prayer. A beautiful solo "Great Is Thy Faithfulness, O Lord" was sung by Mrs. Barbara James of Haliburton.

Mrs. Thea Brandsma, Pres. Lindsay Presbyterian U.C.W., brought greetings, mentioning the annual Presbyterian meeting at Bobcaygeon on March 24 with Mrs. Shirley Davy as guest speaker. She called on other Presbyterian convenors present for their reports. Mrs. Brandsma, Mrs. Doreen McAlpine, Social Issues convenor, and Mrs. Thelma Endicott, Stewardship convenor, presented a short skit on preparing a program using the study for the coming year on "South Pacific Shores".

The "In Memoriam" for members who had passed away during the past year was led by Mrs. Margaret Harrison of Wilberforce U.C.W. She read a poem by Patience Strong entitled "We Cannot Always Understand", closing with prayer.

Chamber of Commerce plans annual meeting

The feature of this year's annual meeting banquet will be guest of honour, The Honourable Reuben Baetz, Minister of the recently restructured Ministry of Tourism and Recreation. He will be making his first of two trips scheduled to the Haliburton Highlands when he joins the Chamber next week. Wig-A-Mog Inn, site of this year's annual meeting is also hosting the fall meeting of Resorts Ontario next weekend and Mr. Baetz is also a key-note speaker at their function.

The presence of the cabinet minister is, however, just one of many reasons why Chamber members will want to spend a day at Wig-A-Mog next Wednesday. The day begins with a very interesting panel presentation at 9:15 a.m. entitled "Cottager Power". Three panel members consisting of Jerry Strickland, president of the Ontario Federation of Cottagers' Associations, Roy Windover, on behalf of land developers, and Art Ward on behalf of commercial developers will attempt to address and debate the very controversial issue of what the cottager wants (or doesn't want) vs. what the community residents want in the way of orderly development in an area such as ours. Members will then have their choice of a number of workshops which address credit and collections, "what every businessman should know about borrowing money", keeping customers happy - and dealing with those who are not, and facing the computer age - should you or should you not join the revolution?

A very interesting luncheon speaker has been arranged this year in the person of Rolly Michener, Executive Director of Tourism Ontario, who will let us in on some of the performance projections foreseen for the major industry in our county. Most members of county council will be joining the groups for lunch following their morning session at council chambers.

The Chamber's business meeting will this year take place at 3:15 p.m. in the afternoon rather than being part of the evening banquet. Not only will this make the evening more of a social affair, but it will allow all members the opportunity to attend and vote for their directors, regardless of whether or not they attend the banquet. This will also be the time at which reports are given on the past year and plans for the future are presented by the executive. The Highlander of the Year presentation will be made at the evening banquet.

Another new feature of the day's activities will be the "Table Topics" session from 4:30 to 6:00 p.m. The Ministry of Tourism & Recreation, Federal Business Development Bank, Tourism Ontario, M.N.R. and several computer suppliers and services will have a table each set up at which participants may talk one on one with representatives and obtain relevant literature on the subject concerned.

All in all the day is bound to be a most interesting and enlightening day for all who are concerned with their community and ultimately their livelihood in it. The Chamber is pleased that in line with restraint programs they have been able to keep their participation fees down to the same as the previous year. That is only $15.00 each for the day's activities including the luncheon and $15.00 each for the evening banquet and dance. There is no charge to attend the business meeting. Tickets may be obtained from any Chamber director or from the Chamber office - 286-1760.

The homely hen lays one.
The codfish never cackles
To tell you what she's done.
And so we scorn the codfish,
While the humble hen we prize,
Which only goes to show you
That it pays to advertise.*

Many groups benefit by Legion donations

Sylvia Sisson president of the Royal Canadian Legion, Branch 129, presented donations to local hospitals, hockey and figure skating clubs at the Legion meeting October 7.

"This may not be a yearly thing, but for now we are pleased to give it to you," said Sisson.

Earl Hewitt accepted the donation for Minden Red Cross Hospital, announcing that it would be added to the trust fund.

Head Nurse, Marlene Bennett, said Haliburton Hospital's $1500 share would go towards purchasing a blood pressure machine.

Haliburton Minor Hockey's representative, Bob MacNaull, said the club may hire a bus to drive to games to encourage more boys to participate.

Haliburton figure skating's Emily Larue hopes to encourage interest in the club while Pat Atkinson of Minden figure skating club said that the $1000 could go a long way to paying off the sound system recently installed in the arena.

Property owners meet candidates

The Soyers Lake Ratepayers Association held its final meeting at the PineStone Inn on Sunday, October 10, with some 40 members and guests in attendance. The guests were the Reeve, Deputy Reeve and Council members and candidates for election to Anson, Hindon and Minden council.

President Lew McCorrison, after welcoming those present, opened the meeting with a memorial to Ross Dyer, a member who passed away on August 2.

An important item of business arising from the minutes of the spring meeting was the question of the Ontario Government's Lakeshore Capacity Study. Advice had been received that the final report is to be published early in 1983, a year later than originally expected. The membership felt that in view of the magnitude of this study, any decision on the Zoning By-law should await the results of the study.

A questionnaire from the University of Toronto on the conversion of cottages to permanent residences had been completed with information supplied by the Township of Anson, Hindon and Minden.

Ross Partridge, Pollution Control Committee chairman, confirmed that the sampling of the lake water had continued through the summer and a report would be available from the Ministry next March. It was reported that the Association had contributed $50 to the Canadian Coalition on Acid Rain.

Gordon Ogg and his Corn Roast Committee members were congratulated on organizing a highly successful corn roast on August 28. This is the Association's social event of the year. Music was supplied by Bob Thompson, Burt Tai, and Nellie Ettel with her guitar.

Publicity Chairman Bruce Birrell voiced the Association's thanks for the press coverage and support given by the "Haliburton Echo", "Minden Times" and "Express". He noted that the past year had been another active and successful year for the Association. Of some 140 residential sites around Soyers Lake, 132 were listed in the Soyers Lake Ratepayers Directory. At least 16 of these are permanent residences.

Fish Derby chairman Jim Byrnes reported a small number of entries, all bass, the largest weighing 2 lbs. 12 oz. Prizes were awarded to the winners.

Another active sailing season was reported. Names of the winners in the annual regatta were announced.

The Association voted to continue its membership in the Federation of Ontario Cottagers' Associations. Members were encouraged to attend the FOCA annual meeting on November 13 at Humber College in Toronto, when the guest speaker will be Hon. Alan Pope, Minister of Natural Resources. A Ministry of Municipal Affairs and Housing spokesman will present an audio visual on the Lakeshore Capacity Study. FOCA has provided active support in the matter of the Zoning By-law.

Ben Cameron presented the Treasurer's report, which was adopted.

Six members were elected to serve a two-year term as directors of the Soyers Lake Ratepayers Association, namely John Thorne, Burt Tait, Victor Ettel, Lew McCorrison, Bruce Birrell and Primrose Birrell. Lew McCorrison announced - amidst protest - his intention to retire as President after eight years' service in that capacity, although he will continue to work for the Association.

The remainder of the meeting was devoted to discussion of the draft Zoning By-law and the forthcoming municipal elections. The Zoning By-law was undoubtedly the major piece of proposed legislation affecting cottage owners introduced during the year. It appeared that the planning consultants had drafted radical changes to the existing by-law of the Township of Anson, Hindon and Minden, affecting the right of ratepayers to use their cottages as permanent residences and laying down minimum lake frontages for future properties. In an early presentation, most of the existing cottage properties had been designated "residential recreational - not suitable for permanent residence". However, many of the existing dwellings had been built to meet current stringent requirements and were intended as permanent retirement homes. The proposed rezoning would deny their owners the right to live permanently on property purchased for that purpose.

Reeve Walker clarified that the minimum lake frontage requirements under the new by-law would be 40 metres, not 30 metres as reported elsewhere.

The feeling of the ratepayers was that if the cost of providing services was becoming an embarrassment to local authorities, a viable alternative would be to offer limited services only and to record such limitations in the deed to the property concerned. Reeve Walker and the other members of Council present at the meeting were unanimous in supporting the position taken by the ratepayers.

The President then thanked Reeve Walker, Deputy Reeve Doug Pritchard, the members of Council and the candidates for election to Council for attending the meeting, and invited each in turn to speak briefly to the ratepayers and outline his platform. Association members were reminded that advance polls will be open on Saturday, October 30 and Saturday, November 6 for those unable to vote on election day, Monday, November 8.

(The preceeding was prepared by Bruce Birrell, publicity person for the Soyers Lake Ratepayers Association)

There has been so much happening here at Hyland Crest, to tell you all about it I will do my very best.

Now we have the finest nurses you'll find anywhere in the land. If left alone to do their job everything will be grand.

They are cutting costs here wherever they are able. We get lots to eat, we shouldn't grumble. The cooks are really good to us, and always seem so humble.

Nice service in the Chapel Sunday night. In the absence of the Thompsons, the Parkers filled in. Beth played for the singing. Fred read the lesson, spoke briefly and led in prayer. Rev. Burgess took over from there. He always has a real interesting topic for us, spoke so plainly without a bit of fuss.

We had some dear friends call on us while in town. The Ralph Coopers from Brantford, also Muriel Brown. Our oldest son, and wife called on us Sunday after a pancake breakfast at Stanhope airport. They have three sons who have airplanes, and think it a great sport.

Linda showed us some fine movies Monday night. "Speed the Plough", "Salmon Running", "Bears Cunnings" and "The Heart of Highland Nova Scotia". What a sight.

Tuesday morning a lovely communion service in the Chapel this lovely October day, conducted by Rev. George Elliott.

By the way, Tuesday afternoon Doris took us in the bus, drove us all around to see the colour of the leaves - before they hit the ground.

Tuesday night the Earl Cooper family came to help form the "Scottish Dancers". They danced down in the gym, all dressed up in their kilts, they looked so nice and trim when the pipers played some real lovely tunes. The dancers danced so gracefully, all around the room.

The Shorters had their granddaughter for a day or so, in their town house, where they like to go.

Ruby Lewis has been away visiting relatives for the last few days.

The Minden Anglican church ladies brought in the lunch this Thursday afternoon. The lounge was filled with residents until there wasn't any more room, waiting to sample the lovely lunch the ladies had brought in. We thank you ladies. We hope you will come again.

Thursday, October 7, here at Hyland Crest, Mrs. Corby had five generations as her special guests. Congratulations, Mrs. Corby, and best wishes to those who live to enjoy five generations are very few.

Friday afternoon it is sing song time again in this place, conducted by Norma and Grace.

Grace read about trying to get even with some one else, when you are only hurting yourself. She sang "Amazing Grace" which was lovely. You know we have an "Amazing Grace" who comes in every Friday afternoon to this place to entertain us, with poems and song. Norma and Fred Ballard come along to play for the singing. Much pleasure to us they are bringing.

book nook

The following is a selection of books available to you at the Minden Library.

Juvenile Fiction

Title: Yes, My Darling Daughter. Author: Evelyn Sweetman.

This tells of Josephine's experiences at her Foster Home and now she comes to love the Jensens, including the new baby. Illustrated in black and white, and easily read. A good book which any young person will enjoy reading.

Juvenile Non-Fiction

Title: Suppose You Were A Netsilik. Author: Barbara Milbauer.

Did you ever wonder what it would be like being a teenager in a different country or society? Do they have different problems, or grow up the same way? In this book, comparisons of 4 unique societies, the Ibos of Nigeria, the Hutterites in U.S.A., the Cheyenne Indians and the Netsilik, are mentioned. If you think you are different, read this book to find out.

Adult Fiction

Title: The Amateur. Author: Robert Littell.

The Amateur is Charlie Heller, a modest man, a back-room functionary employed by the CIA. His specialty, and his private intellectual obsession, is cryptology - encoding and decoding with the aid of sophisticated computers the thousands of messages that link East and West in their continual efforts to read each others minds. But Charlie Heller is no Cold Warrior...not yet. Untangling codes for the CIA is Heller's way of paying the rent and of gaining access to the CIA's immense computer, through which he pursues his gentleman's hobby: searching all of Shakespeare's works to find the elusive cryptogram he believes will reveal their true author. It's a quest Charlie pursues with all dogged, sometimes brilliant inspiration of a dedicated amateur until, suddenly, his calm life is shattered forever.

Summoned one day by his superiors at the CIA, Charlie is informed that during an attack on the American Embassy in West Germany, a terrorist has brutally and senselessly murdered his fiancée, a hostage in the Embassy. Heller's shock and grief turn to unbearable bitterness when he is led to understand that for some incomprehensible reason there has been a high-level decision within the Agency not to pursue the terrorist responsible, Horst Schiller, or to avenge the murder. Obsessed by the necessity of seeking revenge, Charlie ingeniously - and at enormous risk - blackmails his Agency superiors into training and outfitting him to surreptitiously slip behind the Iron Curtain to find, and kill, Schiller.

After a grudgingly granted crash course to stealth and murder at the Agency's training school, Heller is deposited on the Czechoslovakian border. Simultaneously the Agency professionals - from whom it was only a matter of time - defuse Heller's blackmail scheme and determine with complete ruthlessness that Heller, no longer a threat to security and now somewhat of an embarrassment, is to be eliminated immediately, permanently.

Adult Non-Fiction

Title: They Shoot Canoes, Don't They? Author: P.F. McManus.

Whether you read this book early in the morning or late at night, be prepared to laugh out loud. McManus is funny from cover to cover.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Harrison and son Greg of Maple Lake travelled to Sault Ste Marie to attend the funeral of Velma's son-in-law, Tony Filc. Our condolences to the families.

Friends and relatives were saddened to learn of the death of Clare Sawyer of Toronto, formerly of West Guilford, Mr. Paul Cepcauer of Lutterworth Estates, Mr. Charles Webb of Haliburton, Mr. David Chalmers of Kinmount and Mr. Clayton Barnum of Haliburton, last week. Our deepest sympathy to them all.

Mrs. Faye Hobdon is presently confined to Minden Red Cross Hospital, as is my father Walter. Everyone wishes them both a speedy recovery.

Frieda Harrison and Lil Porter are visiting relatives in Sault Ste Marie.

Mrs. Vera Ward is presently on a bus trip to Atlantic City. Have a great time Vera.

Mrs. Schlosser had her family home for a delightful

Thanksgiving.

Mr. & Mrs. Keith MacIntosh of Oshawa spent Thanksgiving with her father and family, Mr. & Mrs. Elmer Harrison of Maple Lake.

Mrs. Harvey MacIntosh of Minden is visiting friends in Timmins.

Mr. & Mrs. John Kuchelema of Toronto spent Thanksgiving weekend at their cottage in Maple Lake.

Mary Windover had twenty-one visitors last week. I would say she was a very busy lady.

Fred, Neil and Colin visited with their mother Joyce Hewitt this past weekend.

Don't forget the Thrift Shop at St. Paul's will be open this Friday. Get some of those good buys.

The Reverend William Sharpe and his wife Betty had guests from Oakville at their cottage on Gull Lake for the weekend.

Gull Lake was certainly a busy place last weekend with everyone up closing the cottages for the winter.

Gordon and Jean Davey and daughter Jennifer were at their cottage at Gull Lake for the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Duncan and family celebrated Thanksgiving at their cottage at Gull Lake.

Alice Clark is still confined to Ross Memorial Hospital in Lindsay, following her recent operation, however sources report that she is doing well and we all wish her a speedy recovery.

St. Paul's Parish hall will be a busy place again this fall. Beavers, Cubs, Kung Fu, Playschool, A.A., Scottish Dancing, Sewing workshop, card parties, ACW, Church School, meetings and the like.

Last week I was deeply shocked and saddened to read of the untimely death of pianist Glenn Gould, in Toronto. He will be sorely missed, not only by titans in the music world, but also by loyal fans and followers of the art. Glenn was a genius. Thank God, through the medium of electronics, we can still enjoy his wonderful music.

Junior Citizen award program - seeks entries

Entries from across Ontario have been received for the second annual Ontario Junior Citizen of the Year Awards Program.

This program honoring Ontario's outstanding young people is a joint community service project of Ontario Community Newspapers Association and CP Air. Nominations are being accepted until December 1 at all 215 OCNA member newspapers including this newspaper.

David Wenger of Mount Forest, Chairman of the 1982 Junior Citizen of the Year Awards Program, reports several nominations have been received but he is looking for more. He said that in the initial year of the program in 1981 a total of 172 nominations were received.

Judges last year selected 12 individuals plus an entire school as inaugural winners. They were honoured at the annual convention of OCNA in Toronto in March.

Each winner received $200, a Junior Citizen lapel pin, a plaque and a framed family photo with Ontario's Lieutenant Governor John B. Aird, who made the presentations.

The awards program was established by OCNA and CP Air to recognize outstanding achievements or acts of courage and initiative by youths between the ages of 6 and 18 years. Groups and individuals are eligible to be nominated. "Those honoured under this program will exemplify values such as courage, ingenuity, resourcefulness, selflessness and fortitude," Mr. Wenger said.

Nominees should be groups or individuals who have been involved in some worthwhile community service endeavor, overcome disabling physical or psychological handicaps to match or exceed their fellows, or have performed acts of heroism -- perhaps endangering their own lives.

Young people nominated in previous years, who continue in their noteworthy endeavors, are eligible to be nominated again. New forms and updated documentation are needed, he pointed out.

To nominate a young person for an award, contact THE TIMES for nomination forms. Completed forms must be returned to THE TIMES by December 1, 1982. Nomination forms are also available through local schools.

For more information, contact: Elizabeth Sweeting, OCNA, P.O. Box 451, Oakville, Ont.
